

How do I compare students to graduates?

The preceptor should assess the student's performance by reflecting on the question "If this were the student's final rotation, would the student be ready to practice as a licensed pharmacist?" If the answer is yes, the student should be assessed at either the entry-level performance or the beyond entry-level performance levels. If the answer is no, the student should be assessed as entry-level performance with limitations or below.
