eScripts is a monthly newsletter highlighting faculty, staff, students and alumni of the CU Skaggs School of Pharmacy.

Giving thanks for our veterans

November was a busy month full of reflection, giving thanks and honoring our veterans. This Veterans Day, CU Pharmacy reflected on the impact of the C. David Elm Pharmacy Practice Scholarship.

The scholarship, named in honor of former faculty member David Elm, PhD, (Class of 1977), is given to a student who is an active or honorably discharged member of the United States Armed Forces or a dependent of one. During this month of reflection, we looked back on the story of Elm's impact on two student veterans, Dario Martinez and Mario Careaga.

Trujillo featured in pharmacy podcasts

Associate professor Toby Trujillo, PharmD, recently hit the airwaves, appearing as a guest on two podcasts.

In an interview with the American College of Clinical Pharmacy (ACCP) Journals podcast, Trujillo discussed his recent journal article, Coagulopathy, Venous Thromboembolism, and Anticoagulation in Patients with COVID-19.

Trujillo also spoke with ACCP's CardioScripts podcast about the LoDoCo2 trial and colchicine.

Former resident in the spotlight

Former PGY2 resident Alison Novak,

Former critical care PGY2, Alison Novak, PharmD, recently won both the Star Research award and the In-Training award from the Society of Critical Care Medicine (SCCM).

Her work was a collaborative effort between the critical care pharmacy group, an infectious disease attending, and the neurosurgical intensivists.

Photo of the month

The newest member of the Skaggs Pharmily, 4-month-old Mason Mueller, is already showing #CUPharmacy spirit! Mason's proud parents are Associate Professor Scott Mueller, PharmD, and his wife Jessica.

In addition to his work as a faculty member, Mason's dad is a critical care pharmacist who has been treating COVID-19 patients in the ICU at UCHealth.
